Bergeron dedicates Alabama shipyard

Bergeron Barges, Inc., a subsidiary of Bergeron Industries, Inc. which operates a shipyard in Port Blenville Industrial Park, Hancock County, recently dedicated its Demopolis (Ala.) christened the first Super Jumbo Open Hopper Barge (SJ101) completed at the site.

The 88-acre Demopolis plant located on the Tombigbee River is expected to employ nearly 300 people with an annual payroll of $6 million. The facility, costing approximately $10 million to complete, is capable of producing two and a half super-jumbo-type barges weekly and has an automated production line design.

The 260 foot long, 32.5 foot wide and 12 foot high SJ101 is composed of approximately 500 tons of steel and is capable of carrying cargo in excess of 3,100 tons, double the capacity of conventional inland hopper barges.

In July of 1981, Bergeron Barges, Inc. was contracted by Central Gulf Lines, Inc., based in New Orleans, to construct and deliver 116 'super jumbos' by early 1983.

The contract, amounting to nearly $80 million, is the largest single inland hopper barge contract in American maritime history. Central Gulf Lines, Inc., will use the vessels to transport coal for the Seminole Electric Cooperative, based in Tampa, Fla.

Representative Rick Manley, speaker pro tem of the Alabama House of Representatives, who was instrumental in landing Bergeron Barges, Inc. in Demopolis, told the Bergeron Industries story.

Said Manley, "This corporation was only conceived in 1973. It emanated from a sole proprietorship begun by R.J. Bergeron Jr. in 1952 and operated as Bergeron Machine Shop in New Orleans, for about 20 years."

"It was incorporated in 1973 as Bergeron Industries, Inc. in Louisiana, and at that time, their total sales were in the neighborhood of $3 million. In 1976, they expanded into Mississippi with a facility named Bergeron Marine and their corporate sales jumped to $6 million."

"They made their commitment to expand here in Alabama in 1981 and this is the result. As they made this investment in our community, we see their sales projection for 1982 to be in excess of $85 million. That's a fantastic growth in anybody's business and it's just indicative of the record they've established."

Manley continued, "The sky is the limit and the potential is impossible to anticipate where Bergeron Industries may go."

"We're proud here in Demopolis, in Marengo County and Alabama to be a part of the Bergeron Movement."

The representative closed by citing Bergeron Industries for recently receiving the Lantern Award, a coveted Louisiana honor presented to the companies that contribute most to their state's industrial development.

Hancock General to fill community relations job

By ELLIS CUEVAS

The trustees of Hancock General unanimously approved the hiring of a community relations director.

Hospital trustees Perry Gibson made a motion for the approval of a budget of up to $60,000 for the department. This is to include salary, expenses such as traveling, printing, the development of slide presentations and related expenses.

A concern was shown by the trustees at the 10.7 percent of gross being charged to bad debts.

Phil Langston said, "We have set a target of 8.5 percent for bad debts, but the actual figure is now at 10.7 for the fiscal year. One of the reasons is because we are not getting the paying patients but we are getting the indigents."

During the month of May some $81,000 was written off for bad debts bringing the total to $426,000 for the fiscal year which began on Oct. 1, 1981. As the meeting ended, Mike Dossett, comptroller said the state currently pays $25 a day for indigent patients, but this amount will go to $65 a day as of July 1.

The average cost per patient day at Hancock General is $275 with average charges being $350 including room, laboratory and other services.

HGH treats an average of 10 indigent patients per month, according to Dossett who said, "These are the people who do not have any other source of hospital coverage such as insurance, Medicare or Medicaid."

Medicare patients comprise 52 percent of inpatients and Medicaid eight percent at HGH, according to Dossett.

"There is a certain number of persons who could pay, but do not. We attempt to collect and if unable to do so after 120 days we turn them over to a collection agency. We have two of them working for us now and they keep one-third of what they collect for their fees and only collect about one-third of the bad debts turned over to them," Dossett added.

The hospital administration will not turn away an emergency case, if a patient lacks money or insurance, Dossett allowed.

The doctors determine if it is an 'emergency' and if it is an emergency they are admitted. "If a patient is in for elective surgery and has no insurance, we ask the doctor to delay admission until the person can come up with the money," Dossett explained.

"A $500 deposit is required for non-emergency patients without some type of hospitalization insurance," the comptroller said.

The trustees were unanimous in accepting three new doctors on the staff of HGH.

The three are Dr. Bert Chevis, family practice on active staff; Dr. Don Roberts, ear, nose and throat, consulting staff; and Dr. A.J. Swales, internal medicine and cancer specialist on the consulting staff.

Dr. Chevis is a native of Bay St. Louis and brother of Dr. Sidney Chevis of this city.

Langston told the trustees he finally had gotten someone to draw-up the plans for the steel building and they should be ready for July's meeting.

HGH board attorney Robert Genin's salary was increased to $250 per month. Langston was authorized to advertise for the procurement of a more advanced type of equipment to keep patients meals from being 'too hot' or 'too cold.'

He said, "I have used better systems than used at HGH. I don't think a new system will cure the problem 100 percent, but it will help."

The trustees adjourned their regular meeting to discuss a 'hospital planning activity' under new business on their agenda with the press excluded.

Two women facing shoplifting charges

By BRENT MACEY

Two Gulfport women were arrested by Hancock County Sheriff's Department deputies Monday at Choctaw Plaza in Waveland and charged with shoplifting.

The Bay St. Louis and Waveland Police Departments also have filed charges against the two women along with two stores in the Bay-Waveland area.

Teresa Ann Handy, 26, of 1201 Camp Street; and Betty Jean Dent, 27, of 2210 31st Avenue, both of Gulfport, were released from the Hancock County Jail Tuesday under $5,000 bond each.

Hancock Sheriff Ronald Peterson said Wednesday that Dent is known on police intelligence files as a 'professional shoplifter.'

She was indicted by the Hancock Grand Jury in April for shoplifting and has also been charged by Gulfport authorities with the same offense, Peterson said.

According to a Sheriff's Department report, both Dent and Handy were arrested after leaving Delchamps Food Store in Waveland at approximately 7 p.m.

According to the report, Hancock Deputies David Garcia and Alton Sick were investigating an accident in the parking lot of the shopping center when an employee of Delchamps ran from the store claiming two black females were shoplifting.

The employee pointed to a car which was occupied by Handy.

The report, filed by Garcia, states the officers approached the car and discovered a rump roast allegedly taken from Delchamps under a floor mat on the passenger side of the vehicle. A smoked ham, also allegedly taken from Delchamps, was discovered under the floor mat on the driver's side of the vehicle. A bag containing 11 packs of flashbulbs, four packs of film, one pair of shoes, a box of Q-tips, and one bottle of Deep Heat, allegedly taken from Revco Drugs, was found between the passenger and driver's seat.

Other items discovered in the car include two cartons of cigarettes, four pairs of women's shorts, three women's house coats, a pair of jeans, two shaving kits, a lady's slip, a bra, a brown belt and other items including gum and candy.

Value of the items confiscated is estimated at $150.

According to the report, the officers arrested Dent after the Delchamps employee spotted the woman walking from the food store toward Kmart.

The report states a witness saw Dent placing five cartons of cigarettes under a parked car as Deputy Sick approached to make the arrest.

The sheriff's department later dropped charges against Dent and is pursuing only charges against Handy for items allegedly taken from Jitney Jungle in Bay St. Louis.

She is scheduled to appear before Justice Court Judge John Chevis July 14, on felony shoplifting charges—charges for shoplifting over $100 worth of items.

In addition, Bay St. Louis Auxiliary Police Chief Brenda Anderson, stated the Dollar General Store in Bay St. Louis has filed an affidavit against both women.

The Bay Police are investigating Dollar General's allegation that the women shoplifted three lady's night coats, a pair of pants and four pairs of shorts from that store, Anderson said.

Both women are scheduled to appear in Bay St. Louis City Court next Wednesday to face those charges.

Waveland Police have also filed shoplifting charges against the two women for items allegedly stolen from Delchamps and Revco.

Handy is charged with two counts of shoplifting by that department and Dent is charged with one count.

Waveland Chief Donald Dorn noted that Delchamps has also filed charges against the women.

Both are scheduled to appear in Waveland City Court July 1.

BURGLARY RATE

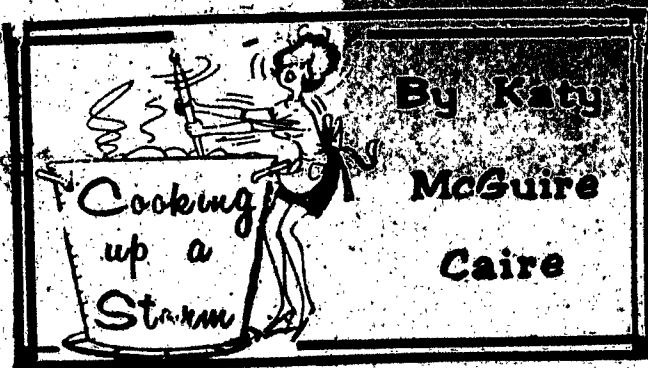

Peterson reports although most other Mississippi Gulf Coast counties are experiencing an increased burglary rate, Hancock breakins are decreasing.

He noted there was a recent rash of nighttime burglaries in the Pearllington area, but recently reported arrests apparently solved those crimes.

The sheriff said poor economic conditions are causing an increased crime rate nationwide.

KILN HIGHWAY CRASH—Deputies Dennis Tartavolles, Jeff and Nathan Hoda of the Hancock County Sheriff's Department interviewed Maelynn M. Champagne of Morrow, La., and her daughter Katy Champagne, 18, after their automobile, apparently struck as a result of the recent two-vehicle accident at the rain-slicked intersection of Kiln-Belt and Kiln-Picayune Roads and Hwy. 605 in Kiln. The Champagne car collided with a truck driven by Kenneth Raymond, 24, of Kiln, Whispering Pines St. in Waveland. The deputies reported the truck was traveling south and the car was headed north and turning west onto the Picayune road when the accident occurred. Apparently no injuries resulted from the collision which evidently smashed the car tank and front end of the truck. State Highway Patrolman J.R. Collins later arrived at the scene to gather information on the wreck, but information regarding any charges which may have been filed in the mishap were not available this week from the patrol's Gulfport office. As the temperature soars and the very thought of going into the kitchen and cooking up a meal makes you even warmer, do as I often do and turn your thoughts to chicken, for easy and elegant, and most of all, at this time of year, relatively "short cut" cooking...and stop muttering imprecations at the early cave man who first discovered fire, or, at least, I think that's the way it was!

Chicken is so versatile and lends itself to so many combinations of flavors and seasonings that I could eat it just about every day, or so it seems. And you might as well face it...you can't feed the family sandwiches all summer long. The budget wouldn't stand it.

Sometimes I saute (or pan roast, or another, if you prefer that term) just the chicken breasts. More often, I saute the chicken quarters, in oil and margarine, with lemons and sherry or white wine. At other times, I add chopped fresh tomatoes and green peppers, mushrooms or onions or eggplant—and sometimes all of them, all around the chicken, for a sort of chicken ratatouille.

And often I add green grapes or cherries or peaches or avocado slices at the very last minute, just for the fun and good taste of it. Just be

LEMON AND SHERRY AND CHICKEN SPECIAL

1 broiler-fryer, 2½ to 3 lbs., quartered as per recipe
¼ cup (½ stick) butter or margarine

Two-third to 1 cup sherry
1 lemon, sliced (less, if you don't like that much lemon; I do)

Coarse ground pepper
1 medium onion, chopped
2 Tbsp. fresh parsley, chopped

Melt the margarine and saute the chicken quarters, browning them nicely and turning as needed, sauteeing the chopped onion also. Distribute the lemon slices atop the chicken quarters, dust generously with the pepper, and pour the sherry over. Simmer till chicken is tender, adding the parsley along the way...and, if you're cooking it for me, add a dash of crumbled rosemary.

Bibliophiles delighted with library book sale

By JOE PILET

Book lovers are ecstatic over the windfall that is being made available to them through the 25-cents per inch book sale now going on at the City-County Public Library in Bay St. Louis.

Hundreds of books have been placed on display tables, on the floor beneath the tables, and on book carts to accommodate the vast number of volumes that for several reasons have been discarded by the library staff.

Why were these books discarded?—a question that has been put to the library staff by several patrons. It is a good question, and Mrs. Prima Wunnack, director of the Hancock County Library System, was happy to provide some answers.

Mrs. Wunnack said many of the books are obsolete and the information given in them is no longer accurate. Some of the books are in rather delicate condition and would not stand up to the rigors of circulation. That is, some have broken backs, or weak sitting. Those books would serve in a private library, but not for general circulation."

Mrs. Wunnack also said that the library staff made a recent inventory and decided to discard some books that had not been in demand for quite a long time.

"These books just were not in demand and were taking up valuable shelf space," she explained.

"Our shelving space is now much better utilized," the librarian said, "books are easier to find and the neat arrangement gives eye appeal."

Mrs. Wunnack said circulation of books has increased since removal of the dated and discarded volumes. "Books that are new and sound are more attractive to the reader," she said. "Books that are old and worn are less appealing." Mrs. Wunnack said she is happy to see the books are in such good condition and would not stand up to the rigors of circulation. That is, some have broken backs, or weak sitting. Those books would serve in a private library, but not for general circulation."

One lady was seen making her way to the counter for book measurements with a staggering stack of some 20 books!

Another lady paid $2.50 for nine volumes that measured about nine inches.

Several were volumes of poetry — there was an Episcopal Hymnal copyright 1916, and a book on travel, third printing in 1913, but first copyright 1871.

"This book gives a very vivid description of the life of the people of the Gulf Coast, and the life of the people of the Gulf Coast," she said. "It is a very good book and I am happy to see it in such good condition and would not stand up to the rigors of circulation. That is, some have broken backs, or weak sit-

By Lea C. McIntosh

The United States Yacht Racing Union quarter-final eliminations for the Mallory, Adams, O'Day, Sears, Bemis, and Smythe Championships were held at Bay-Waveland Yacht Club June 18, 19, and 20.

These regional eliminations determine the Gulf Yachting Association's entries in the national competitions.

Six races were scheduled in each category and 35 skippers from eight GYA clubs entered the competitions.

Three skippers sailed in the Mallory elimination, the first step toward the men's national championship.

Dennis Stieffel of BWYC decisively won this series, sailing to first place in each of the first four races.

Following the fourth race, the two other Mallory contenders conceded, and the final two races were cancelled.

The series was sailed in Flying Scots, and Randy Santa Cruz and Janet Gordon crewed.

Stieffel is now eligible for the Mallory semi-finals in Atlanta next month.

The Adams Elimination, which will lead to the women's national championship, was a round robin event.

Six skippers entered this weekend's quarter-finals, so there were six races. The series was sailed in Flying Scots. To minimize the effect of mechanical factors, boat assignments were rotated for each race.

Judy McKinney of BWYC handily outsailed her competition to win the Adams Elimination. Her finishes were 1-2-1-1-2-1. Mary Ladner and Liz Merrifield crewed.

Second place in the series went to Edie Yarborough of Pass Christian Yacht Club, and Melissa Schloegel of Gulfport Yacht Club was third.

McKinney will sail in the Adams semi-finals in Charleston next month.

The Sears competition determines the national junior champion.

Six races were sailed in Flying Scots in this weekend's quarter finals, with Christian Gambel of Southern Yacht Club winning the series.

Johnny Lovell, also of SYC, was second. Both skippers are now eligible to compete in the Sears semi-finals.

Peter Merrifield, the BWYC skipper in the Sears Elimination, finished fourth overall.

The Bemis series is also a junior category, and competitors are limited to one skipper and one crew per boat. The quarter-finals were sailed in Flying Scots without spinners.

Eldon Harvey of SYC won all six races and, of course, the series.

Matt Stieffel of BWYC placed second overall, and he is also eligible to compete in the Bemis semi-finals in New Orleans next month.

Stieffel's finishes in the six races were 3-2-3-2-2. Michael White crewed.

Tom Allen of BWYC placed third in the Bemis series; Gus Gelpi was his crew.

The Smythe Eliminations were sailed by junior skippers in surfish class boats.

Andrew Murray of SYC won this week's series, with Tom Matthews of Gulfport Yacht Club a close second. The two skippers are both eligible for the semi-final competition.

Adam White of BWYC placed third in the series.

The O'Day Eliminations were sailed in laser class boats; ten skippers entered the single-handed competition.

Sam Hopkins of Gulfport Yacht Club placed first in the series; Bob Hodges of Mobile Yacht Club was second; Jim Marten of SYC, third; Joe Blouin of SYC, fourth, and Steve Sudath of Pensacola Yacht Club, fifth.

In this series, the top five skippers advance to the semi-finals.

Jerry Ellis of Biloxi Yacht Club, rear commodore of the Gulf Yachting Association, served as racing union chairman of the eliminations. BWYC regatta chairman was Frank C. Allen Jr.; race committee chairman was Walter Chamberlain.

Official judges were Ellis, Dwight Lablanc of SYC, Pete Morrill of BWYC, and Bubba Weatherly of Gulfport Yacht Club.

Mark boats were manned by Edgar W. Santa Cruz Jr., Rod Stieffel, Henry G. Chapman, and Frank C. Allen Jr.

Bill Lamb provided the stake boat.

Friday's registration was handled by Lake Gaudin and Robbie Merrifield; Jane Benvenuti was hospitality chairman.

Dinner was served each evening of the regatta, and music was provided Saturday evening by Patty Ryan and Ginger.

Anglers, environmentalists join against Clean Water Act changes

The Regional Administration of the Clean Water Act, a regulatory program for wetlands is a serious violation of the "very intent" of the Clean Water Act, according to the National Wildlife Federation.

"It is a violation of the intent of the Clean Water Act," said Jay P. Hair, executive vice president of the NWF.

"The report demonstrates the administration's decided preference for political expediency over the quality of this nation's waters."

Hair said he had voiced his concerns in a letter to Vice President George Bush, who heads the special regulatory task force that recommended revisions for the federal wetland regulatory program.

"Millions of acres of wetlands are at stake," said Hair. "We hope to be able to sit down with Bush and resolve our differences before the proposals are implemented."

Hair called the revisions "no more than a thinly veiled guise to reduce the jurisdiction scope of the wetland program."

Hair took issue with the proposal to let the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers make more authority to develop and where development in wetlands can take place.

"We can only assume that giving more power to the Assistant Secretary of the Army will allow him to overlook important natural resource issues raised by other federal agencies," said Hair.

The federal agency also maintained that the current permit process for development in wetlands, which allows a variety of federal agencies to make recommendations so that adverse effects are minimized, is working—by preventing the destruction of an estimated 300,000 acres of wetlands a year.

Valuable habitats for wildlife, wetlands also recharge underground aquifers, reduce erosion and filter harmful pollutants from the nation's water system. Almost half the wetlands in the country have already been lost to development, according to the NWF.

National Wildlife Federation (NWF) has urged that the NWA be protected to Vice President Bush.

On the other hand, David W. Brown, executive director of the Environmental Defense Fund, said the proposed revisions "were reached through a process that circumvented even the rudimentary benefit-cost analyses mandated by the Regional Administration. Consequently, they would have little effect on the costs to permit applicants, and they could, severely, undermine protection to the environment."

Other groups that signed the letter included the Sierra Club, the Natural Resources Defense Council, Friends of the Earth, the Conservation Foundation, the Isaac Walton League of America, the American Rivers Conservation Council, the Environmental Policy Center, the Clean Water Action Project, the Chesapeake Bay Foundation, the American League of Anglers, the Bass

Anglers Club, the National Wildlife Federation, the National Wetlands Institute, and the National Wetlands Coalition.

They also urged a change to the Clean Water Act to require that the proposed revisions be passed by Congress.

KARATE TEST—Heath Necaise, left, and Kenneth Ladner are tested on Kata in the Bay High School Gymnasium to advance to a green belt in Shotokan Karate.

Hancock students advance

Thirty-three students from Gulf Coast Shotokan Karate School taught in Waveland and the Kiln were tested recently at the Bay High School Gymnasium to advance to a higher degree belt.

Tests were administered by T. Mikami, a seventh degree black belt and three times Japanese Champion.

Testing consisted of three parts: kata, kihon and kumite.

According to Rennie Ladner, school instructor, kata is a prearranged series of movements. Kihon is technique, and kumite is three-step sparring between two opponents.

Students who advanced to an eighth kyu, or first degree white belt are: Danny Lott, Todd Lindsay, Eddie Reinhardt and Kim McConnell.

B.J. Goran, Matt Heitzmann, Stephen Martinovich, Laurie Martinovich and Judy Fuller advanced to a seventh kyu, or second degree white belt.

The following advanced to sixth kyu, or first degree green belt. They are: Preston Gegenheimer, O.J. McMahon, Brennan Compretta, Laura Garrison, Marcus Ladner, Kevin Schwengel, Greg Mitchell, Gene Breazale, David Clark, Larry Lind, Heath Necaise, Dustin Necaise, Kenneth Ladner, Scott Knight, Julie Ippolito, and Ann Iynes.

Also advancing to first degree green belt are: Robin Cameron, Deanna Kynes, Randall Pitch, Susan Ladner, Charlotte Ladner, Brent Necaise and Tony Wager.

Hugh Finlason was the only student who advanced to a first degree purple belt.

Ladner noted a student can advance five belts in Shotokan Karate.

Belts with degrees which can be obtained are: white belt, two degrees; green belt, one degree; purple belt, two degrees; brown belt, three degrees and black belt, nine degrees.

Ladner is a third degree black belt.

He stated, "It is stressed in Shotokan style of karate that to win 100 victories in 100 battles is not the highest skill. To subdue the enemy without fighting is the highest skill."

The freshest produce in town!

When you choose produce, demand the very best.

Sometimes a cheaper price means cheaper quality — undersize avocados, limp heads of lettuce, smaller grapes that are less, plump, sweet and juicy. And that's no bargain.

But the quality is never cheap at Jitney. It's always up to our high standards...and yours. "The highest possible quality at the lowest possible price." That's how we define excellent value in fresh produce.

Get your money's worth, or get your money back.
